

We have been on the "No Call" list as stated by the law of Indiana since it's beginning. During this time we have been able to enjoy are home during meals and evening time without the many interruptions we experienced with telemarketing calls. Any change to the law as written by the state of Indiana would be detrimental to the home owner. We are able to receive calls from our family and friends on a timely basis and not rely on our "caller ID" to inform us who is calling (since telemarketing calls do not usually show up on the ID).

Thank you for your consideration.
